It can be an achievement of 1912. Professor Ernst Freund, The of fhe Chicago University Employer s Law School, was one of Duty. the speakers at the recent discussion upon Workmen s Compensation, before the American Association for Labor Legislation. It is considered, he said, that if an employer for the purposes of his business, provides and requires the use of dangerous appliances which are, humanely speaking, certain to result in accident, he ought not to let the consequences of the accident lie where they fall, but assume his share of them. Professor Freund said that all legislative commissions appointed to investigate the matter favored the principle of compensation as distinguished from liability. He outlined the points involved in the principle of compensation as being: First--Payment for injuries or death, irrespective of fault or negligence except when caused by wilful...
