Excerpt from The Ohio State University Quarterly, Vol. 1: October, 1909 For a generation the University has been living annually, or, at the most, biennially. The exception to this was when the passing of the Hysell Bill was supplemented by an act authorizing a bond issue in order to erect some needed buildings. This procedure enabled the University to erect a small group of buildings under a general plan. The time has now arrived when the University must begin to live by decades. The unusual and unexpected development has quite out reached the equipment and facilities. NO annual arrangement which will accept from the Legislature whatever happens to be uppermost in the minds of either trustees or legislators at the time will provide for that systematic and symmetrical development now recognized as a necessity. A distinguished alumnus last Commencement intimated that there was not a permanent building on the campus. This striking statement served to call attention to the fact that the University had been making shift as best it could without any real vision as to its own future. There is a...
